The National Conference for Community (NCCJ) is a human relations organization dedicated to fighting bias, bigotry, and racism through education, advocacy, and conflict resolution.

EXPERIENCE OUR PROGRAMS:

BRIDGES: A 2-day leadership, anti-bullying and prejudice-reduction program for middle and high school students. During BRIDGES a group of 25 diverse students and faculty explore the feelings, attitudes, and experiences we have about people of different backgrounds and identities (racial, gender, ethnic, faith). The participants leave BRIDGES with a deeper understanding of how prejudice and bias affect our life and how we as individuals, and as a collective, can work to make our communities more just, accepting, and inclusive.

ANYTOWN Youth Action Coalition (YAC): A group that takes a youth centered approach to creating positive change in our communities and schools. YAC is made up of ANYTOWN Alumni who learn to work together to fight bias and bigotry through action projects idealized at ANYTOWN.

Faculty Training Programs: A custom designed organizational development programs facilitated by trained NCCJ staff. These workshops address a variety of social justice issues and guide school faculty toward the development of positive and supportive school environments.

Support: NCCJ appreciates the continued support of ANYTOWN by individuals, foundations, and corporations who make this program possible each year. ANYTOWN is proudly supported by:

What is ANYTOWN?

Camp ANYTOWN is a nationally recognized and award winning diversity, leadership, and social justice program for youth ages 15-18. Founded in 1957, ANYTOWN is designed to educate, liberate, and empower youth participants (delegates) to become effective, responsible leaders and community builders. For six days, a diverse group of 60 high school students come together to build a community based on respect, understanding, and inclusivity.

Through fun and engaging workshops, Delegates along with 25 staff members explore the thoughts, opinions and experiences we all share on topics like bias, bigotry, oppression, and social change. Through this dialogue, the Delegates are taken on an inspiring journey to create a model for an ideal community in which members move beyond tolerating each others differences to celebrating them. It is the goal of ANYTOWN to equip young leaders with the knowledge and skills to transform their home communities into places where individual differences are seen as positive tools that bring people together instead of keeping them apart.

Where is ANYTOWN?

ANYTOWN is held on the beautiful campus of Saint Joseph College in West Hartford, CT. Participants are bunked in the college's new apartment-suites and transportation is provided from Western Massachusetts and Connecticut. For more information about Saint Joseph College please log onto:
